One short day at the O2

Woodcote students went to the o2

By Jacob

They got back to school and went to back home.

On Friday the 23rd of January year5 and 6 students headed out off on a journey. From south Oxford to central London. They went to the O2 arena Greenwich to take part in the world choir event young voces. And they were gathered up by over 8,000 children to perform lots of songs and dances by Mr Langley dancing alongside gest performers, award winning dance crews and 44year old Andy Instone.

On the coach journey the children said it was really hot, but the views were nice. We asked Isaac [9 years old] said that the windows kept getting hit by branches.

After the coach journey they had their photo taken and climbed eight flights of stairs some of the year fives called them the stairs of doom, Rose forgot her tea/dinner and we asked rose [9years]i felt kind of bad for him.

There parents came when year 5 ait their dinner.

Andy Instone leader of urban strids came on stage and K-pop demon hunters came on.
